Wood County Republican Convention The Republican voters of Wood County are requested to meet in Convention, in How ting Series, on Siturday, August 15, 1838, at 10 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of nominating candidates for the following county offices, to wir One Shriff, one Trassurer, one Clerk of Common Pleas Court, one Commissioner, one Surveyor and three Infirmary Directors.

Also, to appoint delegates to attend the Congressional Convention, at Napoleon, on the 19th day of August, 1868, and upon the following basis: One delegate for every one hundred votes cast for Governor Hayes, it 1867.

The propriety of changing our conventions to the delegate or popular vote system will be submitted for the consideration of the Convention.

By order of Wood Ca. Executive Committee E. TULLER, Chairman. PERRYANDER, July 27, 1958.

Republican Congressional Convention The Republicans of the Tenth Congressional District of the State of Ohin, who approve the platform and support the nonnuces of the Chicago Convention, are requested to elect delegate at such time and place as the respective county committees may designate (except lose delegations already elected in accurdance by regularly called conventions, will represent their own counties), to meet at Napoleon, on the 19th day of August, A. D. 1868, to commate a candidate for Representative in District, at the ensuing election. The several is in every way descrying of the bounties will be entitled to one delegate for exercine of fifty votes given for Governor Hayes, at the last State election—giving a delegation as self as a candidate for Congress.

THE COUNTY CONVENTION Takes place at Bowling Green to-morro We urge every Republican throughout the length and breadth of the county, the importance of being there, and to see that none but good and true men are placed in nomination.

E. BLAKESLEE, of Paulding,

A FEW PACTS AND FIGURES.

A number of Republicans in Toledo have addressed Hon, J. M. ASHLEY a letter, asking that gentleman to give his opinion, as to the " prospect" of his election, if nominated, expressing their confidence at the same time that he " would not eccept a nomination if he thought thre were seem to have fallen. I may here call attention to the fact that the campaign of 1833, the most smeet all of any in the history of the Republican party, w.a conducted substantially without help from Mr. Ashlex, he having devoted little or no time to it. In proof of this, I may meation the fact that his name does not even appear in the lists of speakers appeared for the county and district, the work being done by others. The same is true of 1831, he disapproving of the then policy of the party; while in 1835 is the same does not even appear in the lists of speakers appeared for the county and district, the work being done by others. The same is true of 1831, he disapproving of the then policy of the party; while in 1835 is the same is true of 1831, he disapproving of the then policy of the party; while in 1835 is maller than ever thefore, but with that exception, he has done little or no work in the past eight years, except when he are himself or candidate.

And may be found, best of a candidate. years, except when he more himself a conditate.

And now his friends insist on his renomination as the condition of his working for the ticket the payment campaign. Would it not be well for the Republicans to think a little for themselves, instead of accepting as true these remarkable attempts of their own after helplessness and dependence on one sono, whose zad, as the facts show, manifests itself biennially and when he is

Mr. Ashley goes on to state in much detail the "great labor and constant effort" which he has expended in getting the "District properly organized." He thinks, "the time, money and labor which this work has required, can only be known to those who do it, while its value to a district, in a party point of view, can never be approprietated." He then preceds to show the value in the party of all this work on his part. Ho does not store that the party can not have the reorgalized, is to gree stronger and stronger indefsintely. Is there to be no relief from this?

Of the last seven elections Mr. A smart took an active part in but four. Below I give the Republican majorities on the State ticket at each of these seven, distriguishing the years in which that gentleman did and did not participate in the camerian, viz.

We here find that the "average," Republican majority on the years when Mr. Asunav took part in the campaign was 2,031; while that when he took little or no part, was 4,297; thus showing the ticket got more than twice as large majorities scident, as it did northis help. Does this sustain the view of the improvement of the party, with which he and his friends labor so hard to impress us?

Mr. Asunav gets over his confessed unpopularity and weakness as a candidate, by claim-ans, who ran 46 votes ahead of the State tickets Mr. BEAMAN, of Michigan, who ran 200 votes shead; Mr. Woodsurpse, of Vermont, 215 ahead: Mr. CONKERS, of New York, 106 shead. In the same year Mr. Asungy ran 800 votes behind This writer thus closes his review:

The reader will probably conclude with me that if Mr. Amiliar had himself "looked into the election reteron," he would hardly have made them his witnesses in the present case. Instead of showing that he shares his unpopularity with others, his own evidence, so far as I have been able to examine it, shows that he stands alone in that respect. The truth is that in other districts men retire, or are retired, when the party finds it recessary to go into a nice calculation, to see whether it is strong enough to make up for their confessed weakness. Shall the Tonth District remain an exception?

The friends of Mr. Asnist more than make up in real, what they lack in discretion. One thing they have urged to such an extent that it will tell against them, and that is, that Mr. Asutav's abilities and services as a workor in a political campaign will be lest to the Distries in the event of the nomination of another cambidate. Then, we are to understand from this, that Mr. Asht.KY has no interest in the success of the Republican party and its principles, is well perhaps that this matter is so understood, If Mr. ARHLEY is placed in a false position, let
